Lyme Disease risk high on several popular Cape Elizabeth trails, recent study reports

By Bob Dodd

Quiz time.

If you wanted to avoid Lyme-disease-bearing ticks which trail is the best choice?

A) Gull Crest trail running along the north side?

B) First part of the Willow Brook trail?

If picked B, give yourself a pat on the back.

If you picked A, you might want to give yourself a tick check.

A recent study conducted by Cape Elizabeth resident, Dr. Peter Rand, found a wide range of risk factors for Lyme-disease-bearing deer ticks along some of the town's most popular trails. Overall, Cape Elizabeth trails exhibited a relatively high risk for the little buggers.

Rand, head of the Vector-Borne Disease Lab of the Maine Medical Center Research Institute, presented the study report to the town Conservation Commission and the Cape Elizabeth Land Trust.

High risk factors for several Cape Elizabeth trails

OK, quiz time again.

Where do ticks love to roam?

A) In open sunlit areas with lots of high grasses?

B) In heavily shaded areas with lots of fallen leaves and underbrush?

The answer: B.

Based on the study, good tick habitat ap-

Application for 'Cape Café' now complete

By Wendy Derzawiec

The Planning Board will hold a public hearing Dec. 15 on plans for a café and wine bar to be located in the Pond Cove Shopping Center.

James Wagner, Dr. Samir Haydar and David Leopold are seeking to change the use of the space, which most recently housed a Jungle Gym children's exercise franchise.

The board deemed the application for the project complete at its Nov. 17 meeting.

Wagner, speaking for the developers, identified himself as being from the "Cape Café, for lack of a better name at this point."

"As we discussed at the workshop last month, our concept is to open a café and wine bar in the Pond Cove Shopping Center in the space just to the right of CVS," Wagner told the board.

The café would occupy a 2,294 square foot area and seat 60 people. Town staff calculations indicate that existing parking at the shopping center is enough to accommodate the addition of the café project.

No full kitchen is planned for the café, but bakery and other food items would be delivered from outside suppliers.

"One of the biggest concepts is to have a gathering place in Cape," said Wagner, in a Nov. 19 interview with this reporter. He de-

Michael Ott is 2009 Gould Award recipient

By Elizabeth Brogan

Michael Ott, whose passion and persistence as chair of the fundraising group Kids' Turf was instrumental in bringing an artificial turf playing field to Cape Elizabeth, has been named this year's recipient of the Ralph Gould Citizenship Award.

Michael Ott

Council Chairman, Jim Rowe, made the announcement at the council's Nov. 9 meeting, describing Ott as "the driving force and figurehead" of what became a communitywide effort to build Hannaford Field.

"His enthusiasm for the project and his foresight and vision of what it would mean to our community were instrumental in bringing this from concept to reality," Rowe said.

Hannaford Field, located behind the high school, was dedicated on May 16, 2008, just two years after Ott first approached the council for fundraising approval.

At the dedication ceremony, then-Council Chair Mary Ann Lynch thanked Ott specifically.

"Michael Ott took on the Kids' Turf project with a passion and enthusiasm that is simply remarkable. Mike envisioned a sports field that would become a centerpiece of what defines a community, a field where people of all ages could and would gather. Mike has been involved in every step of the process from permitting, site preparations, vendor selection and negotiations, and lobbying the Town Council and School Board. Mike never gave up. Mike has been a tireless fundraiser for Kids' Turf and I think we all know that this dedication would not be taking place without Mike's leadership," Lynch said.

Rowe echoed Lynch's comments, saying that Hannaford Field has come to represent "a central gathering place that plays an important part not only for our school campus, but for the entire town."

Ott, who currently lives and works in New York, was not present at the Nov. 9 meeting, but will accept the award from Councilor-elect, and former Cape Elizabeth neighbor,

Tech funding from PCPA and CEEF appreciated

This fall the Pond Cove faculty shared their vision for classroom technology with two organizations dedicated to improving education in Cape Elizabeth: the Cape Elizabeth Education Foundation (CEEF) and the Pond Cove Parents Association (PCPA).

Their committed members responded with overwhelming enthusiasm. Over the period of one week, both organizations awarded grants and shared funding with us so that we could fulfill a dream to have state-of-the-art technology in many of our elementary classrooms. Due to their extraordinary efforts, Pond Cove School is being transformed into a 21st century learning community.

We already have SmartBoards, projectors, Blue Tooth mice, and keyboards on order. In our classrooms we will have dramatically engaged students and teachers exploring the benefits of the new technology. Teachers have plans to use the SmartBoards and projectors to enhance the math curriculum, practice phonics, writing and reading strategies.

Children will be interacting with the new technology in science, math, and social studies. The possibilities are limitless.

The energy and excitement created by the generous support of CEEF and the PCPA have inspired teachers to sign up for workshops offered by Technology Director, Gary Lanoie, and gather in teams to teach each other skills they have acquired.

First grade teacher, Karen Dow, writing for the PC Technology Grant application, shared her dream, "I think the biggest thing this will do for the students in my class is motivate them and get them even more excited about learning."

And, Ingrid Stressenger, in a separate application wrote, "It will provide more visual experiences for my students. It will allow me the opportunity to deepen my students' learning by providing instructional tools additional to those which I already employ."

Thank you, CEEF! Thank you, PCPA! We are so grateful to you for this wonderful opportunity.

There are important 'rules of the road' for horseback riders as well as motorists

Photos by Joan Daly

The author, and three students, cross Route 77 on horseback on the morning of Nov. 17. Below, the riders proceed down Old Ocean House Road.

By Kelly Strout, Cape Farm Alliance

The Cape Farm Alliance Horse Owner's committee has surveyed the horse farms in Cape and found there are well over 125 horses stabled in Cape.

With the beautiful weather we have had this fall you should expect to see more and more horses along our roadways. Many of the trails used by equestrians in town are only accessible by traveling short distances along our roads.

It is very important for everyone to know that horses are prey animals and therefore their reaction to certain stimuli can be fight or flight. Horses can be frightened or startled by loud noises, bicycles, charging or barking dogs, trash blowing in the wind, balls and other toys rolling or flying toward them, speeding vehicles, bee stings, birds taking flight, and many other types of events. They may instinctively react to any one of these things as they would to a pack of wolves or a mountain lion attacking them.

Drivers should be particularly cautious when approaching or passing horses traveling on the side of the road as a frightened animal could potentially bolt into traffic, throw its rider, or run away. For the safety of all, expect the unexpected.

"Riders and horses have been harassed, scared, forced into ditches because of excessive speed and bad behavior by drivers, landscapers in a hurry, bicyclists, etc.," Sheila Alexander, CFA horse farms co-coordinator said.

The following is a summary of the Maine statutes and laws regarding animals on our public ways:

1. Riding animals or driving animal-drawn vehicles: A person riding an animal or driving an animal-drawn vehicle on a public way has the rights and is subject to the duties of a vehicle operator, except those provisions that by their nature have no application.

2. Unattended animal-drawn vehicle: A person may not allow an animal-drawn vehicle to be on a public way unattended unless the vehicle is reasonably fastened.

3. Frightened animals: When a person riding, driving, or leading an animal that appears to be frightened signals by putting up a hand or by other visible sign, an operator approaching from the opposite direction must stop as soon as possible and remain stationary as long as necessary and reasonable to allow the animal to pass. When traveling in the same direction, the operator must use reasonable caution in passing an animal.

4. Annoyance: An operator may not knowingly operate a motor vehicle in a manner to annoy, startle, harass or frighten an animal being ridden or driven on or near a public way.

5. Throwing objects: An operator or person in a motor vehicle may not throw an object or substance from the vehicle toward an animal being ridden or driven on or near a public way.

Riders also need to observe some common sense practices when sharing the road and trails. Whenever possible, ride out with a buddy, not alone. Use hand signals when crossing roads. If a horse is frightened or in trouble, you and your partner should signal to motorists and others so that they can respond appropriately.

If you must ride out alone, leave information with someone telling them where you plan to ride and when you expect to return. Always plan to return before dark. If possible, carry a cell phone with you (do not attach it in any way to your horse), a halter and leadline, and a flashlight.

Be aware of the weather and the conditions of the road and trails. Bring along a plastic shopping bag and some sort of scoop to pick up your horse's manure on the trails and especially the roadways (a plastic beach shovel or cat litter scoop work well).

Be courteous, responsible and use common sense.

Happy Trails!

Rotary Club teams up with Cape grad serving in Iraq to collect much-needed school supplies

The South Portland/Cape Elizabeth Rotary Club has partnered with Cape Elizabeth High School graduate Aaron McKenney to collect and distribute much-needed school supplies to three schools in Iraq.

McKenney, currently a 1st Lt. and Army infantry platoon leader serving in Iraq, wants to help about 1,500 students in three Iraqi schools who "have absolutely no school supplies at all."

"We are in a very rural area, and most people live in mud huts. The closest city is Muqdadiyah about 45 minutes away by car."

An Iraqi boy and his brother ask for one pen.

McKenney's platoon is in Diyala province, "which is a mixture of nearly every religious and ethnic group in Iraq."

Needed supplies include such things as pencils, pens, erasers, crayons, markers, colored pencils, pencil sharpeners (non-electric), notebooks, writing paper, children's books, coloring books, staplers, staples, binders, glue, small scissors, calculators, and construction paper as well as basic children's hygiene supplies such as: toothbrushes, toothpaste, floss, brushes, combs, etc.

The collection of materials has already started and will be completed, and the items shipped to McKenney for distribution, by Dec. 16.

How can you help? Collect as many supplies as you can — even slightly used materials are welcome. There are several ways to donate materials and/or cash:

1. Donate at the Rotary Christmas tree lot in Mill Creek, South Portland, anytime during regular selling hours starting Nov. 28.

2. Give your donation to any Rotary Interact student at Cape Elizabeth High School or South Portland High School.

3. Bring your donation to the Purpoodock Club at 300 Spurwink Avenue any Wednesday (except Nov. 25) through Dec. 16 from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

4. Leave donations in receptacles located at the Pond Cove IGA, Cape Community Center, South Portland Library, and Key Bank, Cape Elizabeth branch.

5. Call Rotarian Bob Flynn at 767-7388 or e-mail rflynn13@aol.com for alternative donation arrangements, or to donate cash to help with mailing costs.

Checks should be made out to "SP/CE Rotary."

For more information on this Rotary project, contact Bob Flynn at 767-7388 or e-mail Flynn at rflynn13@aol.com, or contact club president Joan Frustaci at 767-2490.

Town Council approves increased rental fees for Fort Williams Park for 2010

Cape Elizabeth residents wishing to rent the picnic shelter at Fort Williams Park next year will pay a little more.

The Town Council on Nov. 9 approved a $10 fee increase for residents wishing to rent the picnic shelter for a day. A full-day rental in 2010 will be $100 for residents, up from the $90 charged this year. An additional $50 security deposit will be charged, the same as this year.

The increase comes from the town's efforts to make Fort Williams Park more self-sustaining, one of the Town Council's goals for this year.

The fee increase to residents was recommended along with other adjustments by the Fort Williams Advisory Commission. "Approximately 30 percent of the paid rentals this past year were Cape Elizabeth residents," said Public Works Director Robert Malley in a memo to the Town Council.

The new schedule was adopted by unanimous vote, but one councilor, Sara Lennon, asked why the fees weren't increased more, "in light of how anxious everyone is to raise revenue," she said.

Dan Chase, chairman of the advisory commission, said commissioners consulted with Community Services staff, who schedule and collect the fees. "There seemed to be a fair amount of push back on some of these fees," Chase told members of the council.

Fees for nonresidents to rent the shelter will be the same, but renters will see some changes in how and when they can rent the shelter, the park gazebo, and the bandstand.

These changes include:

*An additional hour on afternoon rentals to make them more desirable. Afternoon rentals in 2010 will be good from 3 p.m. to sunset, rather than 4 p.m. to sunset.

*A reduced post-Labor Day picnic shelter rental fee, to reflect the shorter hours of daylight. Half-day rentals after Labor Day will be $150 for nonresidents, groups, businesses and nonprofit organizations.

Half-day rentals before Labor Day will remain $240 for nonresidents, groups and businesses; and $180 for nonprofits. The fee for residents to rent the picnic shelter for a half-day will be $70 regardless of time of year.

*A new, hourly rental system for the bandstand and the gazebo, because most of the rentals there are ceremonies and short term in nature. The hourly rate will be $15 for residents, and $20 for nonresidents, groups, and businesses. Up until now, the bandstand and gazebo fee schedule followed the same full-day, half-day model as the picnic shelter.

*An increase in the wedding and partnership ceremony fee from $50 to $75, with the fee being waived if the picnic shelter is reserved in conjunction with the ceremony.

‘E-M-P-Y-R-E-A-L’ wins Spelling Bee for Team Yellow Jackets

The fifth Cape Elizabeth Education Foundation Spelling Bee on Nov. 17 brought in the money, honey (about $12,000, according to CEEF’s co-presidents) to support the organization’s mission of fostering innovation and excellence in Cape schools.

Of 35 participating teams, the three-physician Yellow Jackets — Roger Inhorn, Vicki Masakowski and Sarah Ketchum — won by correctly spelling “empyreal.” Celestial!

COMPLAINTS

10-27 An officer spoke with a plaintiff and later a state trooper about harassment and trespass by a Cape Elizabeth resident. The subject was located and served with a notice to discontinue harassment and a trespass notice.

10-28 An officer met with a resident of the Mitchell Road area who reported that his vehicle had been entered during the night and some change and an iPod were missing.

10-29 An officer met with a resident of the Mitchell Road area who reported that her vehicle was entered during the night and change was missing from the console area. Another resident also stopped at the police station and reported that her vehicle had been entered and about $10 in change was taken.

10-29 An officer met with a resident of the Ocean House Road area about a motor vehicle burglary that occurred during the night. Cash and several tools were reported missing.

10-29 An officer met with a resident of the Mitchell Road area who reported the theft of a bike.

10-29 Two officers responded to a residence in the Spurwink Avenue area for a possible unattended death.

10-31 An officer found a Raleigh mountain bike, which was returned to the police station for safekeeping.

10-31 An officer met with a local business representative regarding an unwanted party on the premises. The subject was issued a trespass notice.

10-31 An officer met with a resident of the Shore Road area about a trespass complaint. Someone had placed campaign fliers on all the vehicles in a private parking lot. The agency was contacted and advised not to return.

11-1 An officer met with a resident of the Scott Dyer Road area regarding a harassment complaint. The suspect was contacted and advised to cease or be arrested.

11-1 An officer met with a property representative in the Spurwink Avenue area regarding criminal mischief to a building. Someone had spray-painted the side of the building.

11-2 An officer met with a resident of the Scott Dyer Road area about a harassment complaint.

11-2 An officer met with a property representative in the Scott Dyer Road area regarding a trespass complaint. The subject was located and served with a trespass notice.

11-4 An officer was dispatched to the Cape Elizabeth Middle School for a missing student. The student was later located.

11-5 An officer met with a resident of the Shore Acres area regarding a hunting arrow that had struck a house. A vehicle description was obtained and suspect identified. The officer made contact with a parent and a 17-year-old person from Saco who admitted hunting in the area and shooting at a deer.

11-6 Two officers responded to a residence in the Mitchell Road area for a possible burglary complaint. Nothing appeared mssing or disturbed.

11-7 An officer met with a resident of the Scott Dyer Road area about a violation of a protection order.

11-8 An officer conducted a motor vehicle stop on Route 77, and because the 19-year-old operator appeared to have been drinking, he was given a field sobriety test. Paperwork was submitted to the state for license suspension for zero tolerance.

11-9 An officer met with a resident of the Mountain View Park area about a motor vehicle burglary complaint. Missing from the vehicle were a blue wallet containing some cash, driver's license, and personal paperwork.

11-9 An officer came upon an altercation in the roadway in the Fowler Road area. The juvenile subjects were separated and returned home to their parents.

Overnight parking ban in effect Dec. 1-April 1

Cape Elizabeth's overnight winter parking ban takes effect Dec. 1. No vehicle shall be left on the roadways from 1 a.m to 5 a.m. from Dec. 1-April 1.

Cape Elizabeth Public Safety and Public Works may call for daytime parking bans during major snowfalls this coming winter.

Cape QB Treister breaks Black Bears records

Once a player in Cape's youth football program, Chris Treister, a sophomore quarterback at the University of Maine at Orono, is now making news across the country for his scoring contributions in a Black Bear game against Rhode Island on Nov. 14. The sophomore quarterback, who played in place of the team's injured starting QB, completed 39 of 45 passes for 465 yards and five touchdowns. He led the team in rushing with 33 yards and a touchdown on 12 attempts. Treister also matched and set school records in his offensive game. His 39 completions broke the Maine record set in 1997 and his completion percentage of 86.7 is the new all-time single-game best for the Black Bears. Treister was the starting QB at Portland High School for three years.

Ben Brewster, Brock Barritt, Kristin Kerney win 2009 Kevin Brady Spirit awards

Six members of Cape Elizabeth's soccer community won awards Nov. 10 at the Cape Soccer Boosters' end-of-season banquet.

Senior soccer players Kristin Kerney, Ben Brewster, and Brock Barritt won 2009 Kevin Brady Spirit Awards, given each year to soccer players who exemplify qualities possessed by CEHS soccer player Kevin Brady, who died when he was 17.

The awards go to players who display Kevin's spirit on and off the field, said Kevin's father, John Brady, who presents the awards to players each year.

"Kevin was very intense on the field, but when he was off the field and the game was over, he could see the lighter side of things. He had a great sense of humor," Brady said.

Brewster and CEHS senior Katie Lavallee won this year's People on the Hill awards, given annually to a boy and girl who have distinguished themselves throughout the season by demonstrating the highest qualities of sportsmanship, citizenship and spirit on and off the field.

Husband and wife, Alan and Kate Thibeault, received the 2009 Rollie Moore award, given each year to community members who have dedicated time and energy to Cape Elizabeth soccer. Rollie Moore, the award's namesake, was a longtime coach at CEHS and actively participated in the development of youth soccer in Cape Elizabeth.

Alan and Kate Thibeault hold the 2009 Rollie Moore trophy they won Nov. 10 for outstanding volunteerism to the Cape Elizabeth High School soccer program.

Cape softball players selected for premier team

When turkeys used to gobble throughout Cape Elizabeth

This is one of a periodic series, "Historical Snippets," offering readers a glimpse into Cape's past. Anyone wishing to share information about Cape Elizabeth history or their experiences growing up in Cape Elizabeth may contact Ellen Van Fleet through The Cape Courier.

Turkey Jordan used this sign at the family's roadside stand to advertise his birds – note the four digit phone number. White Brother's Store was on Shore Road in the current location of the Knitting Mantis.

By Ellen Van Fleet

Turkeys used to gobble throughout Cape Elizabeth, even on Richmond Island. Cape Elizabeth resident Norm Jordan's grandfather raised turkeys there in the early 1900s when he was farming extensively on the island.

Pomeroy Jordan didn't keep his birds in pens—they were free-range turkeys before that moniker was penned. Pomeroy died in 1927 so turkeys were gone from the island by then.

Another Jordan, Lawrence, born in Cape Elizabeth in 1893, was known around town as "Turkey Jordan." In the late 1920s and early 1930s he raised turkeys in fields that are now woods, located across the road from today's Community Center.

Turkey, Norm Jordan's uncle, lived on the property with Norm's grandmother Emma Dyer Jordan. Norm still has Turkey's "turkeys for sale" sign which advertised the birds at the family's roadside stand.

Lawrence didn't only attend to turkeys. As a boy, he attended Spurwink School, which is today's Thomas Memorial Library. Norm has records showing that in 1905, 12-year-old Lawrence was paid $11.50 as the janitor for the school—a princely sum for a boy at that time.

Cape Elizabeth resident Beverly Brooking remembers white turkeys being raised by her father, Thomas Reed, on Spurwink Avenue.

"They were tough to raise because of diseases," she says. For that reason, many people raised them above ground on wire mesh, though her own father did not use that method, says Beverly, not a big fan of her father's turkeys.

"I hated them," Beverly states emphatically."

Beverly's husband Wayne Brooking remembers helping Raymond Jordan out on Two Lights Road, when it was time to harvest the birds.

"He needed a little extra help," Brooking recalls. "I was about 14 years old. My job was to go catch the turkeys. You bring them back to the shed, a turkey in each hand holding the feet with the turkey upside down."

Raymond went around to various farms doing the killing. Anyone interested in more vivid detail can talk to Wayne, who can be found Thursdays from 9 a.m. to noon at the Cape Elizabeth Historical Preservation Society office on the basement level of Thomas Memorial Library.

These days, Cape resident Jodie Jordan raises turkeys in a barn on his property at Alewife Brook Farm. The first month after he purchases the chicks, which are a month old when he buys them, is difficult, because the birds have to be kept at near 100 degrees for that entire month, Jodie says.

But he's more than accustomed to the process. Thirty years ago, Jodie started with 10 to 15 turkeys which he butchered himself. Today the family raises about 190 birds and on the Saturday before Thanksgiving Bib Jordan helps Jodie load the birds into a truck to take them to a slaughter house in Mercer, Maine. Jodie returns the same day with his turkeys on ice. He has a standing list of customers.

So turkeys continue to gobble in Cape Elizabeth, but they still don't get much respect: Jodie says they are the stupidest birds around.

Silent auction for Cape Nordic set for Dec. 6

Cape Nordic will hold its annual silent auction from 4 to 6 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 6, in the Cape Elizabeth High School cafeteria.

Up for bid will be game tickets, boat rides, outdoor wear, jewelry, art, and many more items.

All proceeds will benefit the Nordic teams at the high school and middle school. Hot chocolate and cookies will be available at the event, at which people can also learn about ski trails in Cape Elizabeth and get information about Nordic skiing.

To view items that will be available at the auction, go to www.capenordic.com.

Garden Club members to make centerpieces

The Cape Elizabeth Garden Club will hold a 12:30 p.m. meeting on Friday, Dec. 4, at the Community Center, where members will make centerpieces for a senior luncheon to be held later in December at the center. Members who wish to create arrangements for themselves should bring containers and greens.

Club members care for the gardens at both the library and the Portland Head Light keeper's house. Please contact Betty Montpelier at 799-0229 or Barbara Anderson at andersoncape@aol.com to find out about joining the club.

Land Trust seeks community input with survey

In an effort to better understand the views of the community regarding its performance in carrying out its mission, the Cape Elizabeth Land Trust has launched an opinion survey on its Web site.

The survey, open to all residents, members and nonmembers, solicits opinions on a broad array of topics ranging from its role in the community to the prioritization of organizational goals.

"Since our membership represents a broad cross section of the town, we think it is important to stay in touch with their views by soliciting input on a regular basis and in a variety of ways," said Ted Darling, president of CELT. "A similar survey conducted a few years ago was most helpful in providing insight as to how others view our organization, and we look forward to revisiting some of the same questions we posed then."

CELT is hopeful that they will meet the benchmark of 300 respondents. The brief online survey can be found on CELT's Website www.capelandtrust.org/survey.

Historian to speak about Irish in Maine

The history of Irish immigrants in Maine will be the topic of a presentation by Matthew Barker of the Maine Historical Society at the Dec. 5 meeting of the Greater Portland Chapter of the Maine Genealogical Society. Barker will speak at 1 p.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at 29 Ocean House Road.

All are welcome at the free event. Refreshments will be served before the program, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

A library assistant at the Maine Historical Society, Barker is the creator and author of the Maine Irish Heritage Trail Web site, maineirishheritagetrail.org, which offers histories of Portland places that have Irish ties.

Members of the Greater Portland chapter meet the first Saturday of every month at the church. New members are always welcome. Visit www.rootsweb.ancestry.com/~megpcmgs/ or e-mail Linda Aaskov at aaskov@myfairpoint.net.

Local toy collection will fill 'Owwie Box'

RE/MAX Oceanside will hold a holiday open house, which will include a toy collection, from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 4, at the realty's 1231 Shore Road office.

In addition to serving food and cheer, RE/MAX agents will collect toys to be added to the Barbara Bush Children's Hospital's "Owwie Box," from which children get to choose treasures after procedures. Toys will be collected at the RE/MAX office through Dec. 10.

RE/MAX is a national sponsor of the Children's Miracle Network, and every realtor in the Cape office donates a portion from each sale to the Barbara Bush Children's Hospital.

Contact Vicki Kennedy at 799-7600 or vkennedy@maine.rr.com.

Jolly Snowman Fair to be held Dec. 5 at Cape Methodist

Cape Elizabeth United Methodist Church will hold its annual Jolly Snowman Christmas Fair from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 5.

The fair will include a variety of sale tables offering crafts, baked goods, knit items, attic treasures, wreaths, and candies. A silent auction will feature special trips, original stained glass, dinners, get-away weekends and more. As in past years, Santa will visit the fair. A lobster roll luncheon will begin at 11 a.m.

The church will not hold a public supper in December. The next supper is set for Saturday, Jan. 2.

CEUMC is located at 280 Ocean House Road. Call 799-8396 or e-mail capeelizabethumc@aol.com for more information.

Rooks to be emcee at Mill Creek Park Tree Lighting Dec. 4

Cape Elizabeth resident Jennifer Rooks, who hosts and produces Maine Public Broadcasting Network's "Maine Watch," will be master of ceremonies at the Mill Creek Tree Lighting which is part of HolidayFest 2009 set for 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 4, at Mill Creek Park in South Portland.

HolidayFest, which will begin at 4:30 p.m. and end at 7 p.m., will also include horse-drawn carriage rides, as well as opportunities for kids to be photographed with Santa Claus from 5 to 6:30 p.m. at South Portland City Hall. Hotdogs, popcorn, hot chocolate and hot cider will be available.

South Portland/Cape Elizabeth Community Chamber, South Portland/Cape Elizabeth Rotary, the Waterfront Market Association, and the city of South Portland are sponsoring the event.

Walsh, Waterglen collect 'Toys for Tots'

Cape Elizabeth resident Jim Walsh, president of Weichert Realtors-Waterglen Group in Portland, and agents at the realty company are participating in the U.S Marine Corps Reserve's holiday Toys for Tots program. All who want to participate can drop off wrapped or unwrapped toys at the Waterglen office at 100 Commercial St. in Portland.

Waterglen will also accept cash donations with which Weichert employees will purchase toys on behalf of donors, or which will be sent to the Toys for Tots Foundation.

Contact Cape resident Diane Churchill at dchurchill@waterglenrealty.com for information. The mission of the Toys for Tots program is to collect toys and distribute them as Christmas gifts to needy children in the community in which the campaign is conducted.

Rotary Christmas tree sale under way

The South Portland-Cape Elizabeth Rotary Club's 47th annual Christmas tree sale is underway at Mill Creek Park in South Portland. Since 1962, the club, which this year ordered about 2,100 Maine-grown trees, has sold Christmas trees to raise money for community charitable causes.

"We all look forward to seeing our friends and neighbors, watching the children's excitement as they search for the 'perfect' tree, and spreading the holiday spirit," said Cape resident John LoBosco, who is heading up the tree sale. "Best of all, every penny raised is returned to the community in the form of scholarships, local improvement projects, and donations to needy charitable programs."

Because of demand in past seasons, trees will continue to be primarily in the 6- to 8-foot range, but 5- to 6-footers, 9- to 10-footers, and tabletop trees also will be available.

"We appreciate the support of the community and are looking forward to another great season. On Dec. 5 and 6 and especially on Dec. 12 and 13, we will be having our busiest and most fun, weekends," Rotary Club President and Cape resident Joan Frustaci said.

Boys' ice hockey team to pick up, discard trees after Christmas

The Cape Elizabeth High School boys' ice hockey team will pick up Christmas trees starting at 8 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 2. Proceeds raised through the collection will help defray overall costs for the hockey season, including ice time and equipment.

For more information, watch for an insert in the Dec. 19 issue of The Cape Courier. Contact Betsy St. Germain at 799-2039 or go to wwwcapeelizabethhockey.com for information about the tree collection and about the 2009-2010 game schedule.

New reading program, 'Read to Ride,' rewards kids with free skating passes

By Rachel Q. Davis

The Thomas Memorial Library is participating in an ongoing reading program offered by Rye Airfield Skatepark in Rye, NH. The program, called "Read to Ride," allows kids to earn a free day pass to Rye Airfield Skatepark (value of $33 ) for reading books. For each book read, participants need to do one of the following:

• Write a short (one to two paragraph) essay/review of the book
• Discuss the book with a librarian
• Draw a picture about the book

For each book read and reported on in this way, kids will earn one official Read to Ride bookmark; when they have earned five bookmarks, they can redeem them at Rye Airfield for an all-day pass. Every participant is encouraged to read as many books as they like in order to maximize the benefits of the program.

Rye Airfield is New England's premier skate park and BMX track, located on Route One, in Rye, New Hampshire. For more information on the skate park, please visit its Web site at www.ryeairfield.com. Brochures about the skate park and its policies, including safety and equipment guidelines, are available at the children's reference desk. Teens and school-aged kids may participate in this program. Stop by the children's reference desk to register.

Fantasy author Deva Fagan to enchant Cape Elizabeth audience Dec. 5

Rachel Q. Davis

Deva Fagan, author of the children's fantasy novel "Fortune's Folly" will present a program for kids and adults titled, "Enchanted Swords, Wicked Witches, and Princesses in Disguise" on Saturday, Dec. 5 at 3 p.m. in the library's Community Room.

Familiar elements of old myths and fairy tales have been a part of storytelling for centuries. Fagan will discuss the use of myths and fairy tales in modern novels, and will talk about the process of writing her own fairy-tale-inspired fantasy novel.

Come join the discussion to test your fairy tale trivia knowledge, see if you could be a fortuneteller, and win prizes! This free program is for kids in fourth grade and up, and for adults who are interested in fantasy-fiction writing and publishing.

A book signing will follow. For more information, please visit the library's Web site at www.ThomasMemorialLibrary.org.

THANK YOU! The Cape Elizabeth Land Trust wishes to acknowledge and thank the many families, businesses and financial supporters of our Saving Cape's Great Places initiative. Contributing members and volunteers enable us to work with local landowners to permanently preserve Cape's natural areas, farmlands and recreational trails. As a community supported organization, we value your support now more than ever.

Over the past 12 months, CELT has preserved five new parcels in Cape Elizabeth including Trundy Point, the Great Pond trail corridor, 25 acres at Turkey Hill Farm and 3 acres of important habitat along Trout brook in the Sawyer Marsh. Our land conservation work could not succeed without you!

Glamour Gals!

Cape Elizabeth High School senior Hannah Doss and a satisfied "customer" share a happy moment after Doss gave the "Glamour Gal" a facial and a makeover and painted her nails on Nov. 15 at a Senior to Senior Glamour Gals session at Village Crossings.

Senior to Senior, a community services group made up of Cape Elizabeth High School seniors, will put on their next "Glamour Gals," for senior citizens who want to get free facials or makeovers or have their nails done, on Saturday, Dec. 12. The event will run from 3 to 4:30 p.m. at Village Crossings, 78 Scott Dyer Road.

S2S volunteers also visit senior citizens regularly, for whom they provide companionship and friendship and help with small but important tasks.

Call Jayne Hanley at 232-2029 or Shannon Saxby at 799-4465 for more information, or visit the Senior to Senior Web site, www.capeseniors.org.

Indoor walking program under way Tuesdays, Thursdays

Community Services' indoor walking program for senior citizens is under way Tuesday and Thursday mornings at the Community Center. Seniors can drop in any time between 8 and 9 a.m. to walk at any pace and for any length of time.

Although there is no fee, participants are asked to sign in at the front desk and to bring walking shoes or sneakers to change into before walking.

For more information, call Community Services at 799-2868.

NHS to host speaker from Sustainable Harvest

A representative from Sustainable Harvest International based in Surry, Me., will speak at 7 p.m. Monday, Dec. 7, in the Cape Elizabeth High School cafeteria. This year's Cape Elizabeth High School National Honor Society beneficiary, SHI is a nonprofit that provides education and support for sustainable-agriculture initiatives in Central America as a means for ecological conservation. SHI staff member Randy Morrison, who just returned from Nicaragua, will speak.

Representatives from various sustainability-minded businesses and organizations, including Maine Organic Farmers and Gardeners Association, Casco Bay Safe Lawns, and Flatbread Company, will have informational tables and refreshments at the event and will be available to talk and answer questions starting at 6:30 p.m., when the doors open.

Proceeds from donations, which will be welcomed at the event, will go to SHI. Please contact NHS member John Menz at john_menz@cape.k12.me.us for more information.

Safe Passage group to provide baby-sitting on Dec. 5 to raise funds for trip to Guatemala

Members of the Cape Elizabeth High School Safe Passage Team 2010 will baby-sit children four years and older from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 5, in the Pond Cove cafetorium to raise money to help fund their trip to Guatemala this coming summer.

Accompanied by Cape Elizabeth Middle School Spanish teacher Susan Dana, the teens will volunteer in the Safe Passage program which serves the educational and basic needs of very poor children and their families in Guatemala City.

Games, crafts, and a light snack will be provided. The cost will be $5 per hour per child.

Contact Laurie Bauman at 767-1167 or lbauman@maine.rr.com to sign up or get information.

'Chicago math' author in Cape in December

Kathleen Pitvorec, an author of the "Everyday Math" curriculum for students in kindergarten through grade 6, will meet with parents at an informational session scheduled from 7 to 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 9, at a school location not yet determined. At the event, Pitvorec will review the philosophy, scope and sequence of the program that many in Cape call "Chicago math" and will answer parents' questions.

Pitvorec will spend two days working with Pond Cove School teachers, attending grade-level meetings at Pond Cove and Cape Elizabeth Middle School, and consulting with instructional support staff.

Developed at the University of Chicago School Mathematics Project, "Everyday Mathematics" is used in more than 185,000 classrooms by almost 3 million students.

Contact Debbie Butterworth in the Math Lab at Pond Cove, at debra_butterworth@cape.k12.me.us.

Check the school Web site, www.cape.k12.me.us to find out the location of the event.

Nonesuch Books sale on Dec. 2 to benefit three Cape school parents' associations

The three Cape Elizabeth school parent associations are jointly sponsoring a shopping night at Nonesuch Books in South Portland from 5:30 to 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 2. Twenty percent of all sales generated during that period will be donated by Nonesuch to the Pond Cove Parents Association, the Middle School Parents Association, and the High School Parents Association.

The evening will feature a bake sale, gift-wrapping services, holiday carolers, and story time for younger kids. Featured titles will include "Uncommon Sense for Parents of Teenagers," which will be discussed at an upcoming HSPA meeting.

Also available will be "The New Mainers, Our Immigrant Neighbors," which features stories about people who will be panelists at the Hear Our Stories presentation which the Middle School's World Language Department will sponsor from 7 to 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 7.

Immigrants to share stories in Cape on Dec. 14

Immigrants will share their personal stories and the struggles and excitement of their first journeys to the U.S. and Maine from 7 to 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 14, at the Community Center. Immigrant Reza Jalali will read from "New Mainers: Portraits of our Immigrant Neighbors," and then facilitate a conversation among several of the "new Mainers" featured in the book.

All in the community are invited to the free "Hear our Stories" presentation, part of a program called, "Global Connections," organized by Cape Elizabeth Middle School and sponsored by the nonprofit Cape Elizabeth Education Foundation, which funds programs that fall outside the school budget. Audience members will hear about different customs and foods, learn about cultural differences among countries, and more

"The purpose of the series is to give Mainers an understanding of the experiences of Maine immigrants by hearing their stories first hand," CEMS French teacher Lisa Leonard said.

"We believe that cultural literacy is a critical skill for citizens of the 21st century," CEMS world language teachers said.

"The world's countries, economies, and peoples are becoming more interdependent day by day, and our students need to have an understanding and appreciation of contemporary cultures. The world is a fascinating place that changes every day, and it is wonderful to learn about world cultures and what compelled people to move to the U.S."

The event will include refreshments. Contact Leonard at lisa_leonard @ cape.k12.me.us for information.

Challenges facing incarcerated women, solutions topic of Dec. 5 presentation

My Sister's Keeper, a mentoring program for women in transition from corrections, will host a New York-based women's advocacy organization from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 5, at First Congregational Church, 301 Cottage Road, South Portland.

The group, Women On the Rise Telling HerStory, is comprised of formerly incarcerated and incarcerated women who seek to change policy affecting jailed women, as well as the public perception of imprisoned women, through mentoring, mutual support, leadership development and the telling of their stories.

Keynote speaker Tina Reynolds, co-chair of WORTH, will address challenges, solutions and policies that women offenders face during and after incarceration.

Space is limited. A suggested donation of $15 to $20 will include refreshments and lunch. Contact Kelly Dell'Aquila, director of services for My Sister's Keeper, at kcoggs@aol.com or 712-5962 for information.

Planning

scribed the café as a family-friendly place, with a dedicated play area for children who come with parents wanting a cup of coffee or tea and a chance to relax with a newspaper, or with their laptop computer.

He envisions an opening time of 6:30 or 7 a.m., offering "a real proper cup of coffee" from an espresso or Barista bar. Morning pastries from Standard Baking Co. in Portland, or bagels from 158 Pickett Street Café in South Portland, are among planned food offerings.

Later in the day, the beverage menu will include wine or beer. "Our intent is to have a wine and beer menu that can appeal to all different kinds of palates," Wagner said.

The café owners are applying for a wine and beer license from the state and anticipate going before the Town Council for license approval in January. Tentative opening date for the café is March 1.

Another concept for the café, Wagner said, is to have available the best of local food establishments; "what Cape people have told us are their favorite foods." Afternoon and evening food offerings will include cheeses and meats, olives and humus, "light fare that complements wine and beer," Wagner said.

Room for delivery of those items concerned some members of the board, and most of them who attended the meeting wanted the plans to better show possible hindrances to delivery in the rear of the store. These include propane tanks, storage containers and an enclosed play area used by the On Our Planet preschool, formerly housed in the space on the north side of the proposed café.

Wagner told the board that the owners of the shopping center may have leased the neighboring space to tenants who plan to open a day care facility.

The four members of the board who attended the meeting planned a site visit for 1 p.m. Friday, Nov. 19. Board members Peter Hatem, Jim Huebener and Elaine Falendar were absent.

Parking lot for Purpoodock OK'd, Fort Williams Arboretum plan approval extended

In other matters, the board approved two items that appeared on their consent agenda.

The first was a request from the town of Cape Elizabeth to extend approval of its plan for an arboretum at Fort Williams Park. The plan now expires on Nov. 17, 2010.

The second was a request from the Purpoodock Club to add a parking lot to accommodate overflow parking to an area used for staging.

Because these items were on the board's consent agenda, there was no in-depth discussion of the applications.

Gould Award

Jim Walsh, when the latter travels to New York City in early December.

Ott said in a Nov. 13 e-mail to The Cape Courier that he is "humbled to receive the Gould Award."

"Every time I visit Hannaford Field I am filled with an enormous amount of pride. I think of the many Cape citizens who generously gave their time and or hard earned money. I am reluctant to accept the award because I am only one of many who helped to make our Hannaford Field dream a reality. The Kids' Turf vision was to create a gathering place for young and old alike in our community and I think our group succeeded. As crowds gather at Hannaford Field my phone will frequently ring; if only you could see the smile on my face when I receive those calls. I miss Cape, but more importantly I miss the people of Cape. Cape Elizabeth will always hold a special place in my heart."

Ott also encouraged others to get involved in continued work for Hannaford Field.

"If you enjoy the field and if you have the capacity to give your time or money I would encourage you to get involved with building a first rate snack shack," Ott said. "If properly built, revenues from a snack shack will help to fund Cape teams for years to come."

The Ralph Gould Citizenship Award was established in 1986, and named for the first recipient of the award. It recognizes those who provide exemplary service to the community. Recipients are chosen by the Town Council.

A plaque on the wall of the Council Chamber in Town Hall bears the names of all previous recipients of the Ralph Gould Award.

pears to be trails that have a closed canopy, that's well-shaded, and has a deep leaf litter, lots of shrubs, and is relatively moist.

Trails showing the lowest populations of ticks were those meandering through open fields with high grasses, few shrubs and are relatively dry.

The Cape trail with the highest risk factor in the study was the Gull Crest North Arm trail. It had a risk rating of .10. Other trail ratings were: Gull Crest Loop Trail East (.08), Great Pond Trail (.03), Gull Crest South Arm Trail (.00), and Willow Brook Trail (.00).

Rand warned in the study that the risk on each trail can change dramatically from segment to segment and from year to year.

Overall the Cape Elizabeth trails studied demonstrated the second highest risk factor (.06) of the eight trail systems studied. The Kennebunk Conservation Trust had the highest (.18). Crescent Beach State Park ranked fourth (.03) behind the Portland Trails (.04). Georges River Land Trust near Rockport had the lowest (.00).

The study shows that Lyme-disease risk is high at south coastal sites, medium along the midcoast, and minimal inland.

Threat of Lyme disease rising in Maine

The study of eight land trust trails was concluded this past summer. In Cape Elizabeth, Rand also included the town-owned Gull Crest trails in the study. The Elmina B. Sewall Foundation funded the study.

A benefit of the study: the Cape Elizabeth Land Trust was provided laminated trail head signs to alert hikers of the presence of ticks on the trails. Look for them on future hikes.

Rand notes in his study that the threat of Lyme disease is rising rapidly in the state. During the last decade, the number of cases reported to the Maine Centers for Disease Control has risen from 49 to over 900. He adds that the number of reported cases may be only 10 percent of the actual cases.

Rand enrolled and trained Land Trust volunteers to collect deer ticks on marked trail sections to help carry out the study. He particularly thanked Cape Elizabeth Land Trust members Brigitte Kingsbury, Nat Clifford and Chris Franklin for their help.

Engineering duo comes in third in competition

Cape eighth-graders, Anthony Castro, left, and Luke Dvorzniak stand behind the VEX robot they designed and built, which won them third place in robot-versus-robot matches at a VEX Robotics competition Nov. 14 at Boston University. The two, who designed their robot to score points, not just block and defend as other robots did, also won the competition's Excellence Award, given to the top all-around team "committed to quality in everything they do." Coached by Cape Elizabeth High School science teacher Kerry Kertes, the two fielded the only middle-school team in the competition. The week after the competition, the two were thrilled to learn that they qualified for the national VEX competition, which they will attend in Dallas, Texas, in April.

Jonathan Brogan, a member of the Portland law firm of Norman, Hanson and DeTroy, was named to the "New England Super Lawyers" list for his personal injury defense work, for the third consecutive year. Compiled annually by Super Lawyers magazine, the list features attorneys for each state recognized through peers and third-party research as being among the best in their fields.

Cape Elizabeth resident Jennifer DeSena, a Coldwell Banker Residential Brokerage agent, received the designation, "certified residential specialist," from the Council of Residential Specialists, the largest not-for-profit affiliate of the National Association of Realtors. To receive the designation, realtors must complete advanced courses and demonstrate professional expertise in the field of residential real estate. Fewer than 4 percent of realtors nationwide have earned the credential.

Cape chess players impress at Nov. 7 tournament

Cape Elizabeth chess players have done it again. Eleven students who attend the Saturday morning chess program at Cape Elizabeth Community Center turned in strong performances in all four sections of the Eastern Maine Open Chess Tournament Nov. 7 at the University of Maine at Orono.

Colin Smith won his section with three wins and a draw. John Xiang tied for first in his section, and Wesley Parker turned in a memorable performance in the open section, winning against, among others, a chess coach who was a former president of the Maine Chess Association. Both Smith and Parker saw huge jumps in their chess ratings as a result of their performances.

Other Capers who participated in the tournament were students Brett Parker, Matthew Reale-Hatem, Matthew Fishbein, Ethan DiNinno, Anthony Freccero, Nicholas Shedd, Theodore Brucker and Kyle Russell.

Scouting for food

After collecting 40 crates of food Nov. 14 with fellow members of Cape Elizabeth Boy Scout Troop 30 and with members of both Cub Scout Pack 30 and the Cape Elizabeth Lions Club, Natty Holmes, front, and Peter DiNinno delight in a job well done, at the Lions' Bowery Beach School House. The Lions will distribute the food collected in the drive to Cape residents in need.
